*We Are True Friends . . .
United as One*

*In my heart
Is the seed
Which will be me.
Nourished by understanding
Warmed by friends
Fed by loved ones
Matured by wisdom
Tempered by tears*

—Leonard Nimoy

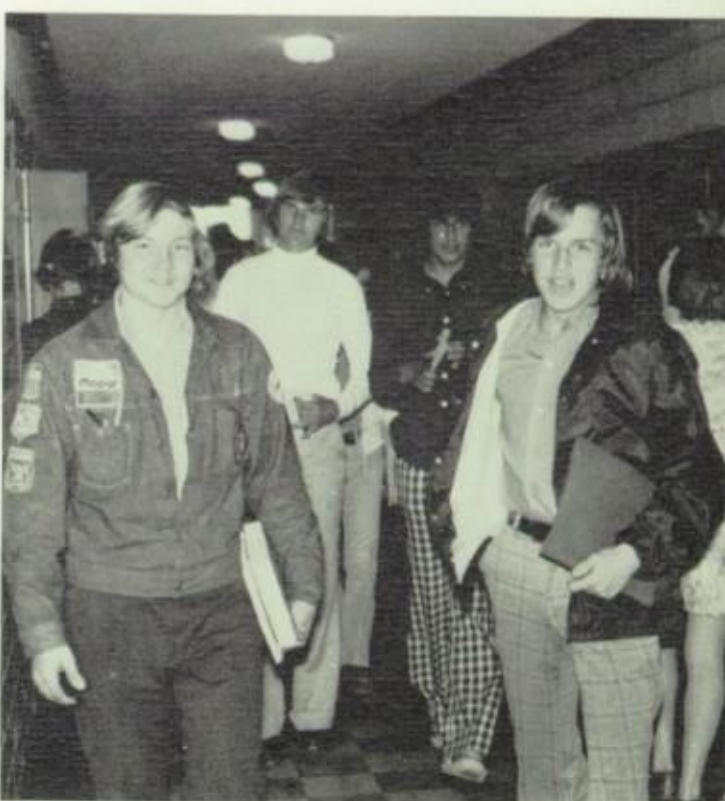

Go easy. No one will believe you if you come in fast. Take no one unaware. Give each new friend, potential enemy or love time to do their own mindmaking and deciding. And for as long as possible, be open with your own decisions. Never consciously run back home with more than you receive.

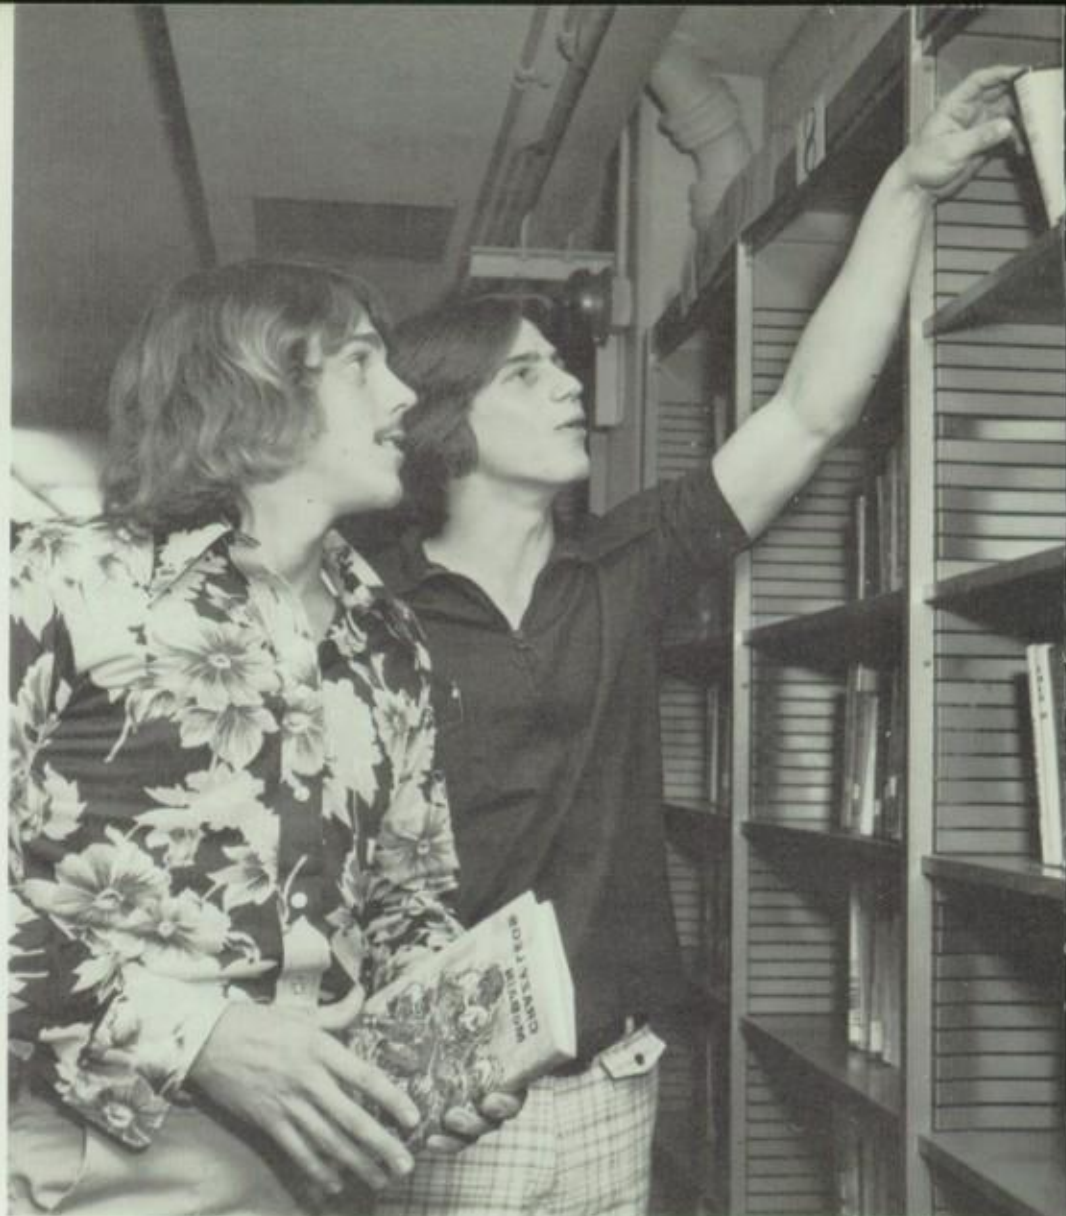

Be gentle. God how all of us want and need that now. Don't cry out. I was only testing you, trying to be sure. Not of you, of me.

—Rod McKuen

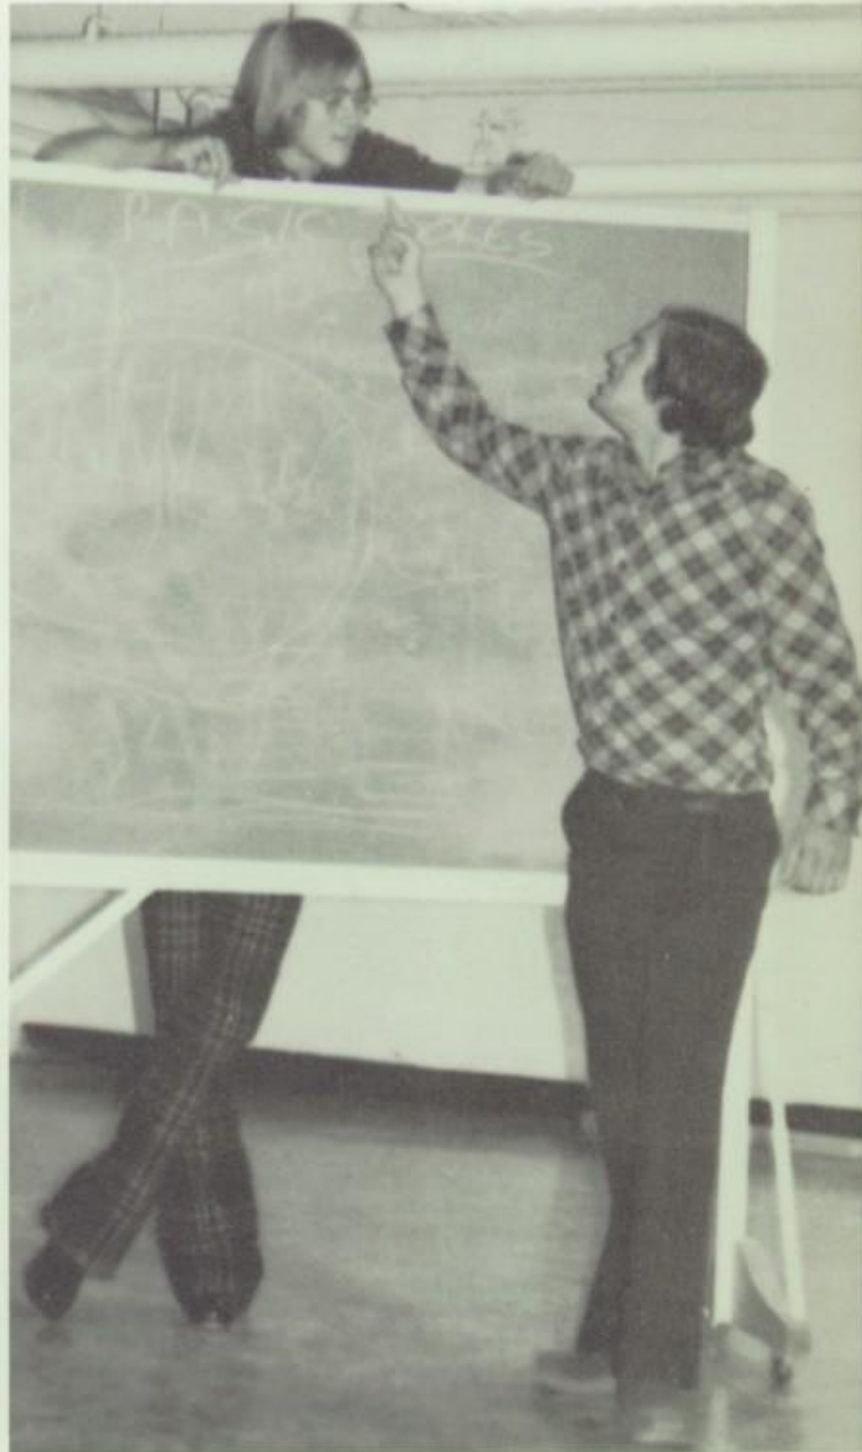

Through You, I Foresee a New Beginning

Encounters Are Footsteps Through Time

Come then strangers and those of you I know form as one.

I fear you've done so anyway and already.

*And if your name be litany or lie,
I'll love you all the same
if you'll come close enough to let me.*

—Rod McKuen

OUR TREE—OUR CLASS . . .

*Grows,
reaching for the stars.
Each year the branches get closer. Storms come and go. But our tree stands upright
and proud!
Thru it all;
Someday fall will come,
and with it, all the leaves of our tree will
go with it,
Different winds;
Different ways;
Yet, the tree shall not die, for the life in our memories, like the spirit of SPRING, will keep the tree*

FOREVER!

I am a teenager and this is what I want!

I want time to be alone — alone with my thoughts.

I want to be accepted for what I am.

I want to be loved by those who brought me into this world.

I want a home that is rich in honesty, sharing and caring.

I want to be heard, I just might have something to say that you need to hear.

I want to know more about myself — my life, my desires, and my goals.

I want to know God and worship Him in my own way.

I want to live my life one day at a time, for only then will I know its fullness.

And as I would live my life for me, so would I have you live your life for you!

*If I had known what trouble you were bearing,
I would have been more gentle
and more caring.
I would have lent a little friendship to you, and slipped my hand within your lonely hand.*

Mary Carolyn Davies

Dedicated to Jim Wieczorek

You held much love for various things . . . and brought pleasure to those on whom you smiled as you walked down the hall; you seemed quiet, very intelligent and all your time didn't matter anymore at all.

Things rushed by like the water flowing from a waterfall. You were superior and inferior to many others in your own special way.

At times you didn't have very much to say, but when you did, your face lit up like a bright sunshiny ray.

You took a lot of jokes and told some amusing jokes.

Then suddenly you became confused and felt you had been alone in the world.

It's difficult for us to lead our lives, yet we each must choose a separate pathway.

You helped many of us to realize our mistakes,

To understand what is real and who is a fake.

You took upon yourself the blame. How many others would do the same? Our eyes have opened; we're no longer blind.

Somewhere, sometime we'll always come to find that we still hold memories of you in our minds.
